Ontario's Many Summer Resorts Afford Varied Pleasures

ON BEAUTIFUL GEORGIAN BAY

A QUARTET OF BIG BASSES

Every summer tens of thousands of visitors seek rest and recreation, health and happiness in the fascinating hinterland of Ontario, where woods and waters abound on every hand, each with its special charm.

A fascinating retreat for fishermen in this part of Ontario, is the French River district. Since the erection of a comfortable, commodious bungalow camp which opened in 1923, visitors have flocked there in numbers that have taxed its capacity. Fighting bass, grown strong in the swift waters of the river, and huge muskellunge are caught in large numbers. Other species are plentiful too.

Most of the Ontario places are easily reached from Toronto. The Muskoka and Kawartha chains of lakes are the annual haven of many visiting families who occupy cottages, camps and hotels of varying degrees of comfort and luxury. All enjoy the dry, pine-scented air that is a sure remedy for hay fever. Many vacationists are ardent fish-men; others delight in sailing and paddling canoes. The summers are all too brief to satisfy these lovers of Ontario's out-of-doors.

Camps hidden miles deep, away from the railway lines, yield exceptionally good fishing and wholesome food. Such a one is Billy Burke's log camp on Frost Lake, reached by an 8-mile launch ride from Paget station. Ka-Wig-A-Mog Lodge, hidden away from civilization, is about 8 miles from Pakeway, and transportation is via the Key Valley railway. Fighting bass, grown strong in the swift waters of the river, and huge muskellunge are caught in large numbers. Other species are plentiful too.

Here and There

The first batch of last winter's furs brought from the Far North by the steamer "Distributer" from Alaskan, has arrived at Edmonton, Alta., and is valued at approximately $1,000,000. Good catches of furs were reported throughout the north.

Sockeye salmon fishing around Vancouver, B.C. for the first three weeks of the current season, while not as active as last year, has, so far, resulted in fairly good catches. The latest reports indicate a catch to date of 55,000 cases, which is 2,000 cases less than last year.

While the members of Dean Sinclair Laird's party of school teachers from Ontario is returning East from their tour of the country the party of British teachers, who landed in Canada recently, is now travelling through the West on a special Canadian Pacific train to gain knowledge of the country and information concerning its resources.

Construction of the half million dollar storage and power dam on the Muskoh River, authorized at its last session by the Ontario Legislature, has been commenced. The proposed work is designed to control the flow from the Muskoh Lakes basin and will enable the linking up of power development in that district with the Eugene-Severn system.

Passenger traffic over Western Lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway to date this summer has been particularly heavy, and a large number of special trains and special cars being operated for British, Canadian and American tourists. Lake side and summer tourist travel to the annual exhibition at Saskatoon and other Western points accelerated the operation of special trains.

Construction of one of the largest and most modern departmental stores at Winnipeg, Man., by the Hudson's Bay Company will be proceeded with immediately, according to an announcement by Mayor Webb of that city. A start upon the company's building programme here was assured, stated Mayor Webb, with the passing of a by-law by the City Council providing for a memorial boulevard flanking the Hudson's Bay property.

During the first half of August two important Ontario railway towns celebrated their Old Home Week and held pageants illustrative of their local histories and industrial activities. These were North Bay and Smith Falls, both of which held C.P.R. Days and were the meeting points for thousands of railroad men, who assisted in the pioneering work of the Old Home Week at North Bay marked the graduation of that town to full-fledged cityhood.

The funeral in Montreal recently of the late G. M. Bowditch, chairman Canadian Pacific Steamships, was attended by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and nearly all the directors and executive officers of the company. An impressive and dignified procession followed the casket, a cortege being formed by the Company's police and officers and men from the crews of Canadian Pacific steamships.

A party of thirty prominent American society people, scientists and artists, assembled recently in blasing a new passage along the Wolverine pass across the northern Canadian Pacific Rockies with the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies. The Riders this year have many famous men among them and six separate committees are represented. Twenty of the members wear gold and enamel buttons, showing that they have ridden 2,500 miles along the mountain trails.

Confidence of United States capital in the Dominion is evidenced by preparations for the new Canadian financing, prospects of a good crop, large United States purchasing in Canada, and heavy expenditures of American tourists in the Dominion, were some of the reasons offered by New York financial experts for the consistent above par stand of the Canadian dollar on the New York exchange. The Canadian dollar is now at a premium on the New York exchange.

Wrangell is Prospectors' Base

(Inset) A bird's-eye view of Wrangell, which was the base for the gold rush in '98, and from which prospectors this year are setting out on further explorations. (Lower) Another view of Wrangell, on the northwest coast of Alaska. (Inset) Canadian Pacific Coastal steamer which is on the Pacific coast route.

The town of Wrangell, superbly situated off the coast of South-Eastern Alaska, in the centre of unusual interest this season, as the base from which prospectors are going in large numbers up the Stikine River into the Cassiar and Dease Lake Districts of Northern British Columbia. While the Gold Rush seems not to be universal as was at first predicted during the winter months a stampede only comparable to the rush of '98 into the Yukon was very generally foretold—it is in all likelihood a more healthy influx of practical mining men from whose explorations in those richly mineralized districts much good may be expected.

It was the Gold Rush of '98 that made of Wrangell the town that it is to-day, though it is one of the oldest settlements in Alaska. Its foundation dates back to 1850 when Baron Wrangell was Governor of Alaska, and a trading post was established there. This was later leased by the Hudson's Bay Co. It was thought that Wrangell via the Stikine River would be the most direct route into the Yukon, but the building of the White Pass and Yukon R.R. destroyed such hopes.

The industries of Wrangell are fishing and lumbering. Fish canneries look to Wrangell as the source of their supplies, and the saw-mill furnishes a large part of the salmon boxes used in S.E. Alaska.

The journey up the Stikine River to the old Hudson's Bay town of Glenora, and to Telegraph Creek is one fraught with beauty. Awe inspiring mountains of great height, swiftly flowing waters, mammoth glaciers, and deeply rugged canyons being encountered in making the ascent of the river, in a small

A prophecy that the Orient would become in the very near future a really large importer of Canadian wheat was made recently by Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works. In predicting increased Orient trade in grain, Dr. King pointed out that imports of wheat from Canada for 1923-1924 increased by 40 per cent.

Over fifteen thousand men left the coast on the first harvesters excursion from the coast to the wheat fields in the middle of August. Four other excursions are to follow from Toronto later in August and September when it is expected that the majority of the remainder of the 50,000 men required for the harvest will travel west.
